| I think students can express a great deal if not most of what they want to say using the present simple, past simple, present continuous, past continuous, second conditional and future(both "will" and "be going to"). Therefore, my most important goal is that students understand these sentence forms and when they are used. I also expect to spend time correctly misconceptions that often appear among English speakers whose native language is Japanese. One example of this is the misunderstanding of the use of "was". Things like this need to be explained and reexplained so that that most important and most useful aspects of English are retained by students and can be enjoyably used with other English speakers.Furthermore, since many students travel abroad I plan to devote several lessons to real world situations such as ordering in a restaurant, shopping. These take English out of the textbook and into the real world. Hopefully students will see these as a fun break from the normal routine of class and will gain confidence in their ability to speak English. I also hope these lessons, and indeed the class as a whole, will give the students a sense that English is not just a school subject but something that you can be of value throughout their lives. Finally, after taking my class if students are able to visit a foreign country and use English confidently, then I would be very pleased. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |      |                                                                                                                                                                                                |         |                                                                                                                                                 |     |

During an of the classes any students who speak English freely will be encouraged and their mistakes will be gently corrected with a view to not souring them on trying to speak. Students are also strongly encouraged to ask questions about anything that is unclear.Grading method:Grades will be based on performance on tests quizzes and class participation. Students may earn extra points by actively using English at any time during the 15 lessons. In the past one student was such an enthusiastic speaker and volunteer when answering questions that she was able to earn enough points to move up one grade level. Conversely, students who act out will have points taken away. |      |                                                                                                                                                                                                |         |                                                                                                                                                 |     |
